Letters from Paris give an account of the marriage of Miss EMILY RIDGWAY, of Philadelphia, to the MARQUIS DE GAUNAY, a French nobleman. The lady is twenty, accomplished, and fascinating. The father of the bride inherited a large fortune from his father, from whom, as an only son, he received the bulk of his father's great fortune; his two sisters, Mrs. RUSH and Mrs. Dr. BARRON, being cut off with only half a million dollars each. He has, to receive this wealth, only this daughter and a son about twenty-one years of age.
